RÉSUMÉ

Saison 2022/2023 NCAA1. Moses Wood, né le 3 mai 1999 à Limoges (France), 2.03m 95kgs, poste 3 US, deviendra pro à l'été 2024.

Dernier né de la famille Wood, son père a joué 15 ans en pro, dont 7 en NBA.
Pigiste de Fred Weis lors de 4 matchs en 1999 (14pts / 11rbds), le hasard a fait que Mme. Wood donne naissance au petit Moses durant cet intermède en Limousin.
Un hasard de la vie qui pourrait bien permettre à Moses de bénéficier d'un statut Bosman, si, bien conseillé par son agent, il entamme les démarches.

Contrairement au pater, les chances que Moses évolue en NBA sont quasi inexistantes.
Pas de là néanmoins, remettre en cause son futur professionnel outre Atlantique.
Dans un autre registre aussi que celui de son père, qui plus grand et plus costaud en tant que 4, évoluait souvent près du fer.
Le fils, quant à lui, plus petit et plus léger, joue essentiellement à l'aile, avec une spécialité qui le caractérise : une belle adresse à 3pts, même sur distance NBA.

Membre du second 5 de la West Coast Conference en 2023.
Star de University of Portland, second joueur dans le roster des oregonians derrière Tyler Robertson, Moses a décidé de quitter la West Coast Conference, afin de se confronter à la Pacific 12 Conference en 2024.
A voir s'il y produira mieux que ses stats de 2023 : 15pts 53%, 40% 3pts !!! (75/186), 84 FT, 6.3 Rbds, 2AS, 13 d'éval sur 33 minutes en 29 rencontres.
Un joueur que nous n'aurions pas présenté, s'il n'avait pu bénéficier de ce statut Bosman.

Ailier de grande taille, correct a 2pts, fiable à 3pts, fiable aux FT, disposant d'un vrai bras, véritable danger public à longue distance.
Avec une vraie fluidité de shoot, capable de dégainer parfaitement bien de loin, quel que soit l'angle, sans soucis sur distance NBA,
Vrai gunneur, shootant plus à 3pts qu'à 2pts, il ne se pose pas de question pour armer son tir.
Avec toujours plus de 33% derrière la ligne en 4 ans de fac.
Capable également de shooter dans le petit périmètre, il peut s'y créer son shoot, mais n'est jamais aussi dangereux qu'en sortie d'écrans.

Les limougeauds se souviennent de la vaillance du papa, mais, dans un autre registre plus opportuniste, Moses ne rechigne pas non plus à aller au charbon, faisant sa part aux rebonds en tant qu'ailier. Assez athlétique et haut, il n'hésite pas à user des intervalles pour conclure attaques ou contre-attaque au dunk.
Disposant d'une bonne vision du jeu il n'est pas non plus avare de passes vers ses coéquipiers.
Un domaine dans lequel il peut encore s'améliorer.
Tout comme sur son premier pas qui n'est pas fulgurant ou sur sa défense sur l'homme, un peu lent sur ses appuis et pas hyper physique.
Continuer à travailler son physique lui permettrai aussi de mieux tenir les contacts en l'air.

Jeune homme sympa et respectueux, après sa carrière, il espère devenir créateur de mode et posséder sa propre entreprise de création de vêtements. Sa naissance à Limoges lui permettrai d'obtenir un statut Bosman s'il en faisait la demande.
En tant qu'US il serait correct, mais en tant que Bosman, ce poste 3 de grande taille, spécialiste du shoot longue distance deviendrai très intéressant.

SUMMARY

2022/2023 NCAA1 season. Moses Wood, born May 3, 1999 in Limoges (France), 2.03m 95kgs, position 3 US, will turn pro in the summer of 2024.

The youngest member of the Wood family, his father played 15 years as a pro, including 7 years in the NBA.
Freelancing for Fred Weis during 4 games in 1999 (14pts / 11rbds), it was a coincidence that Mrs. Wood gave birth to little Moses during this interlude in Limousin.
A coincidence of life that could well allow Moses to benefit from a Bosman status, if, well advised by his agent, he starts the process.

Unlike the pater, the chances of Moses playing in the NBA are almost non-existent.
However, this does not mean that his professional future on the other side of the Atlantic is in jeopardy.
In a different register also from that of his father, who was taller and stronger as a 4, often played close to the iron.
The son, on the other hand, is smaller and lighter, playing mainly on the wing, with a specialty that characterizes him: a beautiful 3PT skill, even over NBA distance.

Member of the second 5 of the West Coast Conference in 2023.
A University of Portland star and the second player on the Oregonians' roster behind Tyler Robertson, Moses has decided to leave the West Coast Conference in order to face the Pacific 12 Conference in 2024.
It remains to be seen if he will produce better than his 2023 stats: 15pts 53%, 40% 3pts !! (75/186), 84 FT, 6.3 Rbds, 2AS, 13 33-minute ratings in 29 games.
A player we wouldn't have introduced, if he hadn't been able to benefit from this Bosman status.

Tall winger, decent at 2pts, reliable at 3pts, reliable at FT, with a real arm, real public danger from long range.
With a real fluidity of shooting, capable of shooting perfectly well from distance, whatever the angle, without worries over NBA distances,
A true gunner, shooting more from 3pts than 2pts, he doesn't ask himself any questions when it comes to cocking his shot.
With still more than 33% behind the line in 4 years of college.
Also capable of shooting in the small perimeter, he can create his own shot there, but is never as dangerous as when exiting screens.

The people of Limoges remember the valour of the father, but, in another more opportunistic register, Moses does not shy away from going to the coals either, doing his part in rebounding as a winger. Quite athletic and tall, he doesn't hesitate to use the intervals to conclude attacks or counter-attacks with dunks.
With a good vision of the game, he is also not stingy with passes to his teammates.
An area where there is still room for improvement.
Just like on his first step, which is not dazzling, or on his defense on the man, a little slow on his feet and not very physical.
Continuing to work on his physique will also allow him to better hold the contacts in the air.

A nice and respectful young man, after his career, he hopes to become a fashion designer and own his own clothing design business. His birth in Limoges would allow him to obtain a Bosman status if he applied for it.
As a US he would be okay, but as a Bosman, this tall post 3, specialist in long-range shooting will become very interesting.
